Reunion in Vienna Saenger Feature

John Barrymore on Screen in Famous Romantic Story

Hollywood has certainly done right by Robert E. Sherwood's "Reunion in Vienna," the show showing at the Saenger. The screen version of his theatre masterpiece stands as direct refutation of traditional mutilation of stage play when run through the cinematic grist mill. Indeed, the theater offering would suffer by comparison, in this writer's opinion.

With John Barrymore starred and Diana Wynyard heading the supporting cast, the elimination of the Broadway hit achieves the happiest of results. Pictorially it has a fluid beauty that's enhanced by vanity and adds a glamorous background for the brilliant Sherwood dialogue. Barrymore is, at his best as the Barrymorish Hapsburg and offers as engaging a portrayal as he has accomplished in years.

Here and There

Editorial By Alex. H. Washburn

EL DORADO this day is burying a gentleman and a scholar. When you ask yourself what, after all, is worth while in life—whether great wealth, or talent, or political eminence—you realize in a moment like this that the world loves a man for himself alone. O. L. Bodenhamer had but little wealth. I do not suppose he considered himself exceptionally talented. In the only political campaign he ever entered he was defeated. But he was a man that other men looked up to—a courageous and unselfish character by comparison with which the events of an active life appear unimportant.

I will always remember Bodenhamer for two things.

He was the first man I met coming to Arkansas ten years ago.

And second, when his political persuasiveness had given him the national commandership of the American Legion, he had the courage to fight the radicals of his own organization and hold the Legion to a position that commanded the respect of the civilian population.

Few politicians have had that courage.

Bodenhamer, when the fight for payment of the remainder of the adjusted compensation certificates was pending, opposed his demand, declaring that so long as widows and orphans of veterans remained unprovided for, the men could ask nothing more for themselves.

It made him unpopular in some quarters. But he had the true vision both for the Legion and the Legion's great country, and the courage to follow where that vision led.

X X X

This was not his native state. He had lived here but twelve years. True, he came of distinguished Confederate stock—but this was not generally known until his candidacy for the United States senate last year.

To come alone on an oil field adventure, and, unhelped either by wealth or family or reputation, to rise to the eminence that Bodenhamer rose to—such is the secret heroic wish of every American.

I do not know any better way to explain Bodenhamer's magic hold upon men than to recall the world's admiration for Lindbergh and the others who seem to have made the race of life alone.

What the government can and cannot do for the cotton growers will be argued in the Hempstead county court on 14 cents cotton cases on Monday, June 26.

Every producer of cotton in this county should attend at least one of those meetings and learn exactly what the government is proposing.

The strength of our country lies in the fact that we begin by attempting to tell the people what it is proposed to do—so they may accept or reject it before we are thrown into confusion.

The government is offering to take 10 million acres of cotton land out of production with a leasing system, if sufficient help can be obtained from the farmers to guarantee cutting down production by at least 2 million bales. I believe the lease price is to be $6 an acre.

With the lengthening years of the panic our people are most inclined to listen to strong measures to control overproduction. Here is a chance to participate in a nation-wide plan, and all the people of our county should learn the facts and help make the decision.

Auto License and Street Tax Voted in by City Council

$1.25 License Per Car to Be Due the First of July

REVENUE REQUIRED

Street Tax, $2.50 for 6 Months, Effective First of October

Hope's city auto-license tax, which was waived the first half of the year, will be made effective again July 1, a charge of $1.25 per car being levied for the last six months, the city council voted at its meeting Tuesday night.

The city street tax also will be restored, as of October 1, the charge being $2.50 for the last half of the fiscal year, October 1 to March 31, 1934. City auto licenses run by the calendar year, to coincide with the state license system; but the street tax runs by the fiscal year. Both measures were adopted by the council to bolster up the city's dwindling tax revenues, it was said in the council meeting.

Action, it was pointed out, is necessary now, that they had discovered where the city failed to collect it. Hempstead county reserved the right to come into the city and demand labor for working the roads of DeRoan township, in which Hope is situated. This was an issue between every city and county government aldermen said.

Light Revenue Declines

A contributing factor in the city's revenue situation is the fact that rates have twice been reduced by the municipal plant, from which much of the government's money is derived. Domestic consumer's rates have been cut the last four years from 12½ cents per KWH to 10 cents, and then, with a 10 per cent discount, to 9 cents.

The council Tuesday night refused a petition by the Board of Health asking that its members be given free water and lights in return for their service on the board without pay. The council took the position that it could not afford to give free water and lights to every honorary board member, of which there are many in the city.

Urge Milk Inspection

Dr. Don Smith, city health officer, reported that he had obtained prices on inspection equipment for the examination of milk coming into the city. Final decision on a city-test system, however, was delayed.

The council heard the chief of police to serve final notice on properly owners who have failed to dismantle or repair partially burned or wrecked residences, as ordered during the spring.

El Dorado Buries Maj. Bodenhamer

City Closes Business for Service Wednesday Afternoon

EL DORADO, Ark.—(AP)—The body of Major O. L. Bodenhamer, former national commander of the American Legion, was borne to the grave Wednesday in his home town.

Funeral services, held at 2:30 p.m. (central standard time), were conducted by Dr. L. Bodenhamer, a brother, assisted by Dr. Ben F. Roberts, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Practically all business houses were closed in respect for the former national commander of the American Legion, and flags throughout the county flew at half staff. The funeral was held at First Baptist church, of which Major Bodenhamer was a member. Dr. John H. Buchanan, pastor, and an overseas veteran, conducted the services, with the assistance of Dr. C. E. Dickey. Both Dr. Buchanan and

Camden Bank Held Up by Four Men

Citizens Bank and Trust Co. Robbed 12:30 Wednesday

Bandits Escape Toward Smackover With Undetermined Loot

SEIZE BOOKKEEPER

Robbers Force Him to Carry Money to Their Car

The Citizens Bank & Trust Co. of Camden was held up and robbed by four unmasked and roughly-dressed men at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, The Star learned in a long-distance telephone conversation with the Camden News.

The robers apparently escaped south in the direction of Smackover. They used a black Chevrolet sedan, Arkansas license number 81368.

The bandits parked their automobile on the east side of the bank, headed south toward the Camden-Smackover highway. Leaving the motor running, the four men walked into the bank, flourished pistols and ordered two bank officials to lie on the floor.

Women Came In

The bandits scooped up all available cash, sacking it in cloth bags. One of the robbers went into the vault, but apparently was unable to obtain any money. Two women customers walked in through a rear door at the bank while the robbery was in progress. They were made to join the two bank officials on the floor.

The bandits continued their search for money. When leaving the bank the robbers ordered Sam Steele, bookkeeper, to carry the loot to their waiting automobile.

Steele said the robbers intended to use him as a shield in escaping if trouble started on the outside of the bank. The safes were empty at that time of day. After Steele placed the money in the bandit car he was ordered back into the bank.

Alarm Is Given

During the robbery a man passing the bank became suspicious, but instead of walking across the street to sound an alarm, he continued safely to another block before reaching a telephone to notify officers.

Bank officials at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon refused to estimate the amount of loot taken in the robbery.

All the robbers were described as tough-looking men. One was a large man, weighing over 200 pounds, Bookkeeper Steele said.

Officers in surrounding towns were notified, and a close watch is being maintained on all highways leading south of Camden.

Two Desperadoes Held in Hope Jail

Sheriff Morrison, of Rison, Returned Them From Tyler, Texas

Curtis Duke and Marvin Tate, identified as two of five men who terrorized the town of Rison, Ark., two weeks ago, kidnaping three, one a deputy sheriff, were held in the Hope city jail over Tuesday night.

Sheriff Morrison, of Rison, and three heavily-armed deputies stopped here Tuesday night with Duke and Tate, who had been captured in Tyler, Texas.

The two prisoners, aged 25 to 30, were placed in cells on the top deck of the jail. An armed guard kept vigil over them during the night.

Deputy Sheriff W. A. Fore, who was kidnaped at Rison, were among the officers. He identified the two prisoners as his abductors after looking them over in the Tyler jail.

Extradition Obtained

Duke, who has a police record at Tyler, refused to waive extradition to Arkansas. Upon the arrival of requisition papers at Tyler from Governor Futrell for the return of Tate and Duke, the two were released to Rison officers.

A band of heavily-armed men drove into the town of Rison in the dead of night about two weeks ago and attempted to loot the town, kidnaping three men in an effort to clear the streets in order that they might not be disturbed while making their haul.

An alarm was given. The town's two guns were turned on and an armed guard of citizens patrolled the streets following the kidnaping.

Has Kidnaped Officer

Deputy Fore and his companions were taken into a section of woods near Rison, held captive by one guard while the other robbers returned to town.

Finding their plans blocked the looters soon returned, piled the captives into a car bearing an Oklahoma license and released them near Pine Bluff when officers of that city spotted them as they passed in a car.

The officers picked up Fore and his companions, and chased the looters, but were outdistanced.

A few days later three of the looters were captured. They are now held in jail at Pine Bluff.

Officers continued their search, and picked up the trail of Duke and Tate, which had led to Tyler, Texas, where the two were captured.

The officers left here at 7 Wednesday morning, returning their prisoners to Rison.

Sheriff Morrison is a brother-in-law of W. E. Jones, veteran rural mail carrier of this city.

14 States Repeal by Vote of 7 to 2

Iowa, Bone-Dry for 20 Years, Repeals by Over 100,000

By the Associated Press

Long-dry Iowa, with Connecticut and New Hampshire, Wednesday brought to 14 the number of states which in unbroken sucession have voted to knock the 18th amendment out of the constitution.

The Hawkeye state's swing from a position she had maintained for nearly two decades left the dry forces their hope for a halt in the parade on Arkansas and Arkansas both voting July 18.

Iowa's count was 362,000 against repeal, with only 262,000 against repeal, with only 130 precincts missing.

New Hampshire voted 75,000 to 30,000 for repeal; and Connecticut registered some 236,000 to 35,000 in deciding for repeal.

The pros and antis are concentrating on Alabama and Arkansas, although California and West Virginia vote earlier, June 23.

The total popular vote in the 14 states which have decided to repeal to date is 6,981,000 for repeal, and 1,809,000 against.

14 Straight Victories

By the Associated Press

Two more states—Connecticut and New Hampshire—Tuesday were joined in the repeal march, making the complete returns from the hitherto dry-voting state of Iowa seem to the anti-prohibitionists so far ahead as to indicate almost certain victory.

Placed in the doubtful column at the start of the balloting, Iowa emerged early Wednesday with a substantial majority in favor of repealing the Eighteenth amendment from the constitution.

With most of the Iowa precincts heard from, the repealists were leading by 364,473 to 238,858. Since those opposed to prohibition had gained steadily with each new return, there appeared little possibility that this lead of nearly 125,000 could be overturned.

Should the final official vote carry out this lead, the 14 states to vote thus far would stand in a straight line for abolishing prohibition.

There was no doubt from the outset as to the result in the other two states which recorded themselves Tuesday. Connecticut in landslide fashion rolled up a six-to-one majority for repeal, virtually assuring a convention July 11 at which 90 to 100 prohibition delegates will sit unopposed.

In New Hampshire, with only a few precincts missing, the Iowa margin for the opponents of prohibition had swept the state by a more than two-to-one majority, rolling up a vote of 64,185 to 27,124.

States to vote previously were: Michigan, Wyoming, Illinois, Indiana, New York, Nevada, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Wyoming, Rhode Island and Delaware, all of which gave sizeable majorities to repeal delegates.

Leasing Program Is to Be Taken to County Next Week

Routon, Huskey and Lowallen Are Hempstead Committee

PICK COUNTY AGENT

U. S. to Send Man Here for Work Beginning Monday

Hempstead county's acreage reduction to comply with the federal government's program for leasing of cotton land, is to be worked out at a series of 14 community meetings beginning next Monday, June 26, it was decided by the State Reduction committee here by long-distance telephone, Mr. Ware said.

Committee Is Named

The Hempstead County Cotton Acreage Reduction Committee, meeting in Hope Wednesday afternoon, select a committee of three members in each political township. The committee, as announced by Chairman Ralph Routon, Hope; H. H. Huskey, Prescott; Route 5; and Riley Lowallen of Shover Springs.

All the new township committees to be selected Wednesday will be called into a meeting in Hope later next week, to plan for the 14 series of meetings.

The dates of these meetings are as soon as completed, Routon said.

Cotton Agent Sought

The county committee also was instructed to go to Hope Wednesday afternoon and select a county agent, to succeed Mr. Ware, who resigned to become assistant state agent for the Arkansas Extension Service.

Applications for the position are being received by the county committee, and action expects explaining the government program.

The government expects to rent 10 million acres of cotton land from reduction by leasing it at $6 an acre, giving the farmer an income for surplus cotton now on hand at a price far under the present market.

The leasing program will be supported by a processing tax of about 4 cents a pound, to be paid by textile manufacturers.

Hempstead Voted Dry, Says O'Neal

He Recalls Sheriff Election on Wet Issue 7 Years Ago

Editor The Star: Wonder if our people remember just what happened in this same month seven years ago?

At that time the bootleggers had just about taken charge of things. One thing but our circuit judge. Our sheriff had been persuaded that the people of the voters of Hempstead county were wet find wanted the bootleggers to have a free swing, and I am sure were swinging.

After some little scandal in Logtown had stirred us up we decided to bring the matter to a showdown, and nominated the county campaign was on an opposition candidate for sheriff was in the race.

The election fell in June and the way they showed that sheriff what they believed is a fine thing for all of us to remember. Its no easy matter to vote down a man for a second term but it was done two to one in that primary, and not only did the voters repudiate the man at that election but they have passed him by at every election since. He has been in all the races since, too.

So just to illustrate, the successor proceeded to take charge and turned instead of selecting juries that turn men loose, just anybody, men were chosen for jury service who would do their duty and the bootleggers got no favor for their money. In the first two sessions of our circuit court more than 110 men were sentenced to the penitentiary from Hempstead county alone.

Shortly, however, our circuit judge got sick and matters have gotten worse.

The list of bad boys I have, shows that many have several terms in the pen and nearly everyone has been in jail and have paid fines.

Now we all know what class of folks sell liquor, not only in Hempstead county but in the big cities and this is the class of folks we will expect to see take charge of things if we vote to repeal the 18th amendment.

But not if our people just put their thinking cap on and remember, and remember what we have gone through already.

Respectfully,
N. P. O'NEAL,
County Chairman for the dry.

'Peg O' My Heart' Coming Thursday

Marion Davies in New Version of Famous Old Play

As a play "Peg O' My Heart" is some 20 years old and yet on the screen it is brand new.

The reason for this is in the appearance and cleverness of the charming story. In the new picture version at the Saenger Thursday and Friday, with a 2:30 matinee Thursday, Marion Davies breathes new life into the captivating character created in the theater by Laurette Taylor.

In her deft hands, Peg seems to have a new personality and yet with it loses none of the crystal romance of the irish gamin we knew so well in the days Miss Davies' performance is assuredly the best of many recent appearances. She has endowed her Peg with a finer understanding and sympathy that might be traceable to her own Irish ancestry.

The comedy moments of the story abound in richness of dialogue and situations and the love theme, with Onslow Stevens as Sir Gerald, adds a poetic gentleness. The story of Peg is too well known to dwell upon but comes upon the screen with a freshness that is delightful, stirring at the same time fond reminiscences of another day.

There are songs enough for the hero
Who plods on the heights of fame;
We sing of the disappointed—
For those who have missed their aim.
A prize for the last great runner,
The eager, anxious soul,
Who falls with his strength exhausted,
Almost in sight of the goal.
But the hearts that break in silence,
With a sorrow all unknown,
Or those who need companions,
To walk their every step alone.
And we know the Solar system
Must somewhere keep in space

Convention Hand Denied by Futrell

Governor Declares He Did Not Influence It in Any Way

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Governor Futrell said Wednesday that he sought in no way to control the Democratic state convention Tuesday which nominated four chief justice and eight primary for the Fifth congressional district vacancy.

A short time before making his statement at a newspaper men's conference, the governor received the resignation of Mrs. Sam Rorex as a member of the board of control of the Arkansas Confederate Home.

Her husband was the only candidate for the Fifth district nomination at a scheduled meeting of district delegates Tuesday, but the action of the state convention in his absence primarily prevented Rorex from receiving a convention nomination, which had been conceded by his erstwhile opponents.

Primary Called in Congress Race

Sam Rorex, Falling of Convention Nomination, Enters Election

LITTLE ROCK.—Delegates to the 1932 Democratic state convention, meeting at the Hotel Marion Tuesday afternoon adopted by a vote of 256 to 241 a resolution calling a primary election Tuesday, September 12, for nomination of a candidate for congress to succeed Federal Judge Heartsill Ragon, resigned.

The delegation shortly before had nominated Chief Justic C. E. Johnson of the Arkansas Supreme Court as candidate to succeed himself in the special election called by Governor Futrell for July 18.

The resolution calling the primary for the Fifth Congressional District included a request to Governor Futrell that he call a special election to fill the vacancy sufficiently late to permit holding the primary in September. The governor had indicated that he would call the election at a later date if no convention nomination for congressman were made.

Only one candidate has made a formal announcement, Sam Rorex, Little Rock attorney who expected to receive the congressional nomination in the district convention Tuesday made the following announcement:

"I am a candidate for Congress." Mr. Rorex made no other comment.

When the vote on the resolution calling the congressional primary was announced at 3 p. m., the convention went "wild" and the delegates milled about shouting, waving the ball and paying no attention to Chairman Basil Baker of Jonesboro, who was attempting to read several other resolutions.

However, some of the delegates soon quieted the clamor down and adopted resolutions nominating Chancellor J. F. Gautney of Jonesboro and Chancellor Pratt Bacon of Texarkana as candidates to succeed themselves. Judge Gautney was appointed to fill the appointment filling the vacancy caused by resignation of Governor-Elect Carl E. Bailey. Chancellor Bacon, district, and Judge Bacon has filed the vacancy caused by appointment of Judge Johnson in the Sixth district.

Dr. Dicken were close friends of Mr. Rodenhamer.

Military services at the grave were in charge of Legionnaires from the valley were fired over the grave as a last salute. Uniformed Boy Scouts directed traffic at the cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Martin Bernstein, commander of the Boy W. Kinard Post No. 10 of El Dorado, and the following past commanders: Sam D. Crawford, 1926; C. B. Crumpler, 1924; S. E. Gilliam, 1925; Robert Black, 1926; H. G. Craig, 1930; S. B. Davis, 1931, and Harry C. Miller, 1932. No attempt was made to name honorary pallbearers, as members of the family said "it would be impossible to list all of his close friends."

Messages of condolences poured in from practically every section of the nation, and friends of the city's late citizen gathered here from many parts of the South.

While Louis A. Johnson, Legion commander, telegraphed from Clarksburg, W. Va., that he would make every effort to attend the services, the national adjutant, Frank Samuels, and Jim Barton, general manager of the American Legion monthly magazine, were flying toward Shreveport where they were to join John Ewing, well known Legionnaire and Louisiana publisher.

Governor Futrell announced from Little Rock that he would attend the services.

OUT OF BOUNDS

By HELEN WELSHIMER

YOUR garden isn't well-tailored,
Your flowers haven't manners.
Debut tags run anywhere
To weeds excited boasters.

STRAY pansies hide beneath slim leaves,
And zoos climb all over
The restless and voluble silks,
And dandelions and clover

GO tumbling on bush-bordered lawns.
The patchwork's nice and crazy.
Most any place you look you'll see
A hyacinth or daisy.

MY garden spot is orderly,
The landlord has allotted
A window ledge designed to hold
Six tulips, nicely potted.

YOUR flowers' pranks are innocent,
Mine have a dreadful habit.
Each crock picks out a head to hit;
Before my head can grab it.

IT'S centered some conspicuity's bat. . . .
I'm giving up my garden.
I'm getting much too bored and tired
Of begging people's pardons.

Industry to Raise Wage Level First

Johnson Urges That It Go Slow in Elevating Price Structure

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A direct appeal to industries to take their agreements for rehabilitation on increased wages, and stabilized working hours, and not to cinsecure prices at least for the present, was made Tuesday by Hugh S. Johnson, head of the National Recovery Administration.

Business leaders were told frankly by Johnson the initiative in the program for restoring industry rests upon their enterprises and that his organization was ready to consider proposed codes of fair competition as soon as they were prepared and submitted.

At the same time he failed pointed attention to the penalties in recovery legislation that are applicable to industries that fail to come forward voluntarily with trade agreements.

A few hours later he said at his first press conference that the 10 major industries of the country were rapidly putting into shape for presentation trade agreements designed to raise the wages of millions of men and boys and supplement by setting a maximum hour limit.

The textile industry, which has already made some progress, opens public hearings are to begin June 27 under the leadership of W. T. Allen, a coordinator, was said by Johnson to have done "a beautiful job."

Business Gains in the Past Week

Net Loss 16 Per Cent for Dollar Stiffens U. S. Price Structure

NEW YORK—With all major business indices showing further gains during the past week, reports from all sections of the country show increased consumption as well as production, Dun and Bradstreet's weekly review continued to advance, and price trends moved upward in semi-finished and manufactured goods.

Setbacks in commodities and securities occurred in mid-week, but general misapprehension as to what the reports of a gradual rise in the dollar's sound ratio might portend, the selling coming from uninformed sources and not from those who know the real position of the various markets. As a result, merchants and manufacturers are eager for stabilization of the dollar, since the net loss of 16 per cent in the value has since served to stiffen the country's price structure.

Retail trade, which has been accomplished, the natural recovery of business that has been serving by the first three months, the arresting of deflationary tactics by creditors, the rise in commodity prices, the increase in production, the forward buying by manufacturers and the gradual increase in life spending has surpassed all expectations.

Statistician to Be Chosen for Cotton

Civil Service Examination in Hope Tuesday, June 27

The United States Department of Commerce announces a civil service examination for the appointment of collector of cotton statistics in Hempstead county. The examination will be held in Hope, Tuesday, June 27.

The duties of the statistian will be to go in person to various places in the county where cotton is ginned and government.

It is not a full-time post, but is required to be attended to at regular intervals, usually during about four months of the cotton season and possibly one other time during the year.

Applicants must have at least two years experience in growing cotton and ginning it, but need not be identified with the cotton industry in some manner. Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 55, and be in good physical condition. Veterans of the World war will be given preference.

The salary paid in Hempstead county is $420 a year, subject to a possible 15 per cent reduction as an economy measure.

2 Local Men Land Conservation Jobs

Crosby and Bradshaw Appointed to Veterans' Contingent

Percy Crosby and Leroy Bradshaw have been appointed to a veterans' contingent in the emergency conservation work. Six former service men will be given similar jobs from Hempstead county.

Seven applications have been received by the Veterans Bureau, in Little Rock, it is understood. Their names were not obtainable. Crosby and Bradshaw were the first two applicants from Hempstead county. They are to report in Texarkana Monday morning, to be assigned to an emergency conservation camp.

U. S. Bureau Wants Contact Workers

Vacancies Open to College-Trained Men of Farming Experience

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that until further notice it will accept applications for positions of emergency agricultural assistant to fill vacancies in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of the Department of Agriculture. The examination is open to qualified residents of the state in which the paper is published.

The salary range is $2,600 to $3,600 a year, subject to a deduction of not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a supplemental reduction of 3-½ per cent.

The duties are to contact farmers individually, and through established agricultural associations and organizations of farmers and producers, in the handling of details incident to securing the co-operation of farmers in carrying out the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

The basic requirements are (1) Graduation from a recognized agricultural college, or (2) graduation from a college or university of recognized standing other than agricultural, and residence on a farm for a period of 18 months or until entering college or three years of actual farm experience. In addition, applicants must have had at least two years of experience in certain specified agricultural pursuits. There is provision for the substitution of acceptable specialized agricultural experience for college training.

Leon Still in Prison Sentence

Tennessee Governor Hears Appeal for Youth Over Phone

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—A direct appeal to Governor Hill McAlister to halt any further steps in the execution of a sentence of imprisonment for Carolyn Leon, 18-year-old Memphis girl, was received by the governor Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Morris Tyler of New Orleans. That was made known later on her own request. Mrs. Tyler, who is a friend of Leon, could not be reached by telephone.

But not even their closest friends suspected a real romance. Then came the former's conviction and the girl's subsequent burial with the exclusiveness of a big city funeral. Not a few members of the girl's family were present, as well as all among the ranks of both Yale and Harvard men, for Carolyn had captivated many with her slim, fair beauty and vivacious gaiety. She was extremely popular among the Yale and Harvard men, and the funeral was one of the most impressive ever held in the state's prison, and Lee, on the other, is serving a 10 to 20 year sentence.

Parents Approve . . .

No shadow of disapproval fell across the betrothal from the parents of either. Judge Josiah Franklin Leon, a millionaire executive of the great Washington-Crosby mills, and his wife, the former Harriett McKnight of Minneapolis, were happy to give their approval to the match.

Crosby is said to have offered the bridegroom-to-be all of his extensive power in one of the flour mill subsidiaries. But Hogan refused, preferring to cope with the penalties in recovery legislation that are applicable to industries that fail to come forward voluntarily with trade agreements.

A few hours later he said at his first press conference that the 10 major industries of the country were rapidly putting into shape for presentation trade agreements designed to raise the wages of millions of men and boys and supplement by setting a maximum hour limit.

The textile industry, which has already made some progress, opens public hearings are to begin June 27 under the leadership of W. T. Allen, a coordinator, was said by Johnson to have done "a beautiful job."

"Good for Constipation"

"We have used Thedford's Black-Draught in our home for about 20 years and find that it is, for us, a reliable medicine," writes Mrs. Ivy G. Roberts, of Porterville, Ala. "A friend recommended it to me a long time ago and it has proved its worth to me. Black-Draught is good for constipation and to rid the system of poisons. The system is bodily poison. I find that taking Black-Draught when I feel the need prevents the bilious headache which I used to have. I take a dose of Black-Draught, dry, as I say it.

Thousands of men and women have found new worth in Black-Draught when in the relief of much-needed attention due to constipation.

'Peg O' My Heart' Coming Thursday

Marion Davies in New Version of Famous Old Play

As a play "Peg O' My Heart" is some 20 years old and yet on the screen it is brand new.

The reason for this is in the appearance and cleverness of the charming story. In the new picture version at the Saenger Thursday and Friday, with a 2:30 matinee Thursday, Marion Davies breathes new life into the captivating character created in the theater by Laurette Taylor.

In her deft hands, Peg seems to have a new personality and yet with it loses none of the crystal romance of the irish gamin we knew so well in the days Miss Davies' performance is assuredly the best of many recent appearances. She has endowed her Peg with a finer understanding and sympathy that might be traceable to her own Irish ancestry.

The comedy moments of the story abound in richness of dialogue and situations and the love theme, with Onslow Stevens as Sir Gerald, adds a poetic gentleness. The story of Peg is too well known to dwell upon but comes upon the screen with a freshness that is delightful, stirring at the same time fond reminiscences of another day.

There are songs enough for the hero
Who plods on the heights of fame;
We sing of the disappointed—
For those who have missed their aim.
A prize for the last great runner,
The eager, anxious soul,
Who falls with his strength exhausted,
Almost in sight of the goal.
But the hearts that break in silence,
With a sorrow all unknown,
Or those who need companions,
To walk their every step alone.
And we know the Solar system

Convention Hand Denied by Futrell

Governor Declares He Did Not Influence It in Any Way

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Governor Futrell said Wednesday that he sought in no way to control the Democratic state convention Tuesday which nominated four chief justice and eight primary for the Fifth congressional district vacancy.

A short time before making his statement at a newspaper men's conference, the governor received the resignation of Mrs. Sam Rorex as a member of the board of control of the Arkansas Confederate Home.

Her husband was the only candidate for the Fifth district nomination at a scheduled meeting of district delegates Tuesday, but the action of the state convention in his absence primarily prevented Rorex from receiving a convention nomination, which had been conceded by his erstwhile opponents.

Primary Called in Congress Race

Sam Rorex, Falling of Convention Nomination, Enters Election

LITTLE ROCK.—Delegates to the 1932 Democratic state convention, meeting at the Hotel Marion Tuesday afternoon adopted by a vote of 256 to 241 a resolution calling a primary election Tuesday, September 12, for nomination of a candidate for congress to succeed Federal Judge Heartsill Ragon, resigned.

The delegation shortly before had nominated Chief Justic C. E. Johnson of the Arkansas Supreme Court as candidate to succeed himself in the special election called by Governor Futrell for July 18.

The resolution calling the primary for the Fifth Congressional District included a request to Governor Futrell that he call a special election to fill the vacancy sufficiently late to permit holding the primary in September. The governor had indicated that he would call the election at a later date if no convention nomination for congressman were made.

Only one candidate has made a formal announcement, Sam Rorex, Little Rock attorney who expected to receive the congressional nomination in the district convention Tuesday made the following announcement:

"I am a candidate for Congress." Mr. Rorex made no other comment.

When the vote on the resolution calling the congressional primary was announced at 3 p. m., the convention went "wild" and the delegates milled about shouting, waving the ball and paying no attention to Chairman Basil Baker of Jonesboro, who was attempting to read several other resolutions.

However, some of the delegates soon quieted the clamor down and adopted resolutions nominating Chancellor J. F. Gautney of Jonesboro and Chancellor Pratt Bacon of Texarkana as candidates to succeed themselves. Judge Gautney was appointed to fill the appointment filling the vacancy caused by resignation of Governor-Elect Carl E. Bailey. Chancellor Bacon, district, and Judge Bacon has filed the vacancy caused by appointment of Judge Johnson in the Sixth district.

OUT OF BOUNDS

By HELEN WELSHIMER

YOUR garden isn't well-tailored,
Your flowers haven't manners.
Debut tags run anywhere
To weeds excited boasters.

STRAY pansies hide beneath slim leaves,
And zoos climb all over
The restless and voluble silks,
And dandelions and clover

GO tumbling on bush-bordered lawns.
The patchwork's nice and crazy.
Most any place you look you'll see
A hyacinth or daisy.

MY garden spot is orderly,
The landlord has allotted
A window ledge designed to hold
Six tulips, nicely potted.

YOUR flowers' pranks are innocent,
Mine have a dreadful habit.
Each crock picks out a head to hit;
Before my head can grab it.

IT'S centered some conspicuity's bat. . . .
I'm giving up my garden.
I'm getting much too bored and tired
Of begging people's pardons.

Industry to Raise Wage Level First

Johnson Urges That It Go Slow in Elevating Price Structure

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A direct appeal to industries to take their agreements for rehabilitation on increased wages, and stabilized working hours, and not to cinsecure prices at least for the present, was made Tuesday by Hugh S. Johnson, head of the National Recovery Administration.

Business leaders were told frankly by Johnson the initiative in the program for restoring industry rests upon their enterprises and that his organization was ready to consider proposed codes of fair competition as soon as they were prepared and submitted.

At the same time he failed pointed attention to the penalties in recovery legislation that are applicable to industries that fail to come forward voluntarily with trade agreements.

A few hours later he said at his first press conference that the 10 major industries of the country were rapidly putting into shape for presentation trade agreements designed to raise the wages of millions of men and boys and supplement by setting a maximum hour limit.

The textile industry, which has already made some progress, opens public hearings are to begin June 27 under the leadership of W. T. Allen, a coordinator, was said by Johnson to have done "a beautiful job."

Business Gains in the Past Week

Net Loss 16 Per Cent for Dollar Stiffens U. S. Price Structure

NEW YORK—With all major business indices showing further gains during the past week, reports from all sections of the country show increased consumption as well as production, Dun and Bradstreet's weekly review continued to advance, and price trends moved upward in semi-finished and manufactured goods.

Setbacks in commodities and securities occurred in mid-week, but general misapprehension as to what the reports of a gradual rise in the dollar's sound ratio might portend, the selling coming from uninformed sources and not from those who know the real position of the various markets. As a result, merchants and manufacturers are eager for stabilization of the dollar, since the net loss of 16 per cent in the value has since served to stiffen the country's price structure.

Retail trade, which has been accomplished, the natural recovery of business that has been serving by the first three months, the arresting of deflationary tactics by creditors, the rise in commodity prices, the increase in production, the forward buying by manufacturers and the gradual increase in life spending has surpassed all expectations.

Statistician to Be Chosen for Cotton

Civil Service Examination in Hope Tuesday, June 27

The United States Department of Commerce announces a civil service examination for the appointment of collector of cotton statistics in Hempstead county. The examination will be held in Hope, Tuesday, June 27.

The duties of the statistian will be to go in person to various places in the county where cotton is ginned and government.

It is not a full-time post, but is required to be attended to at regular intervals, usually during about four months of the cotton season and possibly one other time during the year.

Applicants must have at least two years experience in growing cotton and ginning it, but need not be identified with the cotton industry in some manner. Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 55, and be in good physical condition. Veterans of the World war will be given preference.

The salary paid in Hempstead county is $420 a year, subject to a possible 15 per cent reduction as an economy measure.

2 Local Men Land Conservation Jobs

Crosby and Bradshaw Appointed to Veterans' Contingent

Percy Crosby and Leroy Bradshaw have been appointed to a veterans' contingent in the emergency conservation work. Six former service men will be given similar jobs from Hempstead county.

Seven applications have been received by the Veterans Bureau, in Little Rock, it is understood. Their names were not obtainable. Crosby and Bradshaw were the first two applicants from Hempstead county. They are to report in Texarkana Monday morning, to be assigned to an emergency conservation camp.

U. S. Bureau Wants Contact Workers

Vacancies Open to College-Trained Men of Farming Experience

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that until further notice it will accept applications for positions of emergency agricultural assistant to fill vacancies in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of the Department of Agriculture. The examination is open to qualified residents of the state in which the paper is published.

The salary range is $2,600 to $3,600 a year, subject to a deduction of not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a supplemental reduction of 3-½ per cent.

The duties are to contact farmers individually, and through established agricultural associations and organizations of farmers and producers, in the handling of details incident to securing the co-operation of farmers in carrying out the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

The basic requirements are (1) Graduation from a recognized agricultural college, or (2) graduation from a college or university of recognized standing other than agricultural, and residence on a farm for a period of 18 months or until entering college or three years of actual farm experience. In addition, applicants must have had at least two years of experience in certain specified agricultural pursuits. There is provision for the substitution of acceptable specialized agricultural experience for college training.

Leon Still in Prison Sentence

Tennessee Governor Hears Appeal for Youth Over Phone

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—A direct appeal to Governor Hill McAlister to halt any further steps in the execution of a sentence of imprisonment for Carolyn Leon, 18-year-old Memphis girl, was received by the governor Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Morris Tyler of New Orleans. That was made known later on her own request. Mrs. Tyler, who is a friend of Leon, could not be reached by telephone.

But not even their closest friends suspected a real romance. Then came the former's conviction and the girl's subsequent burial with the exclusiveness of a big city funeral. Not a few members of the girl's family were present, as well as all among the ranks of both Yale and Harvard men, for Carolyn had captivated many with her slim, fair beauty and vivacious gaiety. She was extremely popular among the Yale and Harvard men, and the funeral was one of the most impressive ever held in the state's prison, and Lee, on the other, is serving a 10 to 20 year sentence.

Parents Approve . . .

No shadow of disapproval fell across the betrothal from the parents of either. Judge Josiah Franklin Leon, a millionaire executive of the great Washington-Crosby mills, and his wife, the former Harriett McKnight of Minneapolis, were happy to give their approval to the match.

Crosby is said to have offered the bridegroom-to-be all of his extensive power in one of the flour mill subsidiaries. But Hogan refused, preferring to cope with the penalties in recovery legislation that are applicable to industries that fail to come forward voluntarily with trade agreements.

A few hours later he said at his first press conference that the 10 major industries of the country were rapidly putting into shape for presentation trade agreements designed to raise the wages of millions of men and boys and supplement by setting a maximum hour limit.

The textile industry, which has already made some progress, opens public hearings are to begin June 27 under the leadership of W. T. Allen, a coordinator, was said by Johnson to have done "a beautiful job."

Hope's Winning Streak Is Broken

Benning's Homer Gives Camden Last-Minute Win 9 to 8

A home run in the eight inning broke the Storks' winning streak of nine victories, enabling Camden to defeat Hope Thursday afternoon, 9 to 8, at Camden.

Duke Bennings, Camden first baseman and former Ouachita college football star, socked one of Ralph Pate's offerings sending the ball soaring high over the centerfield wall. The circuit drive broke an 8-8 deadlock, putting Camden one run in the lead. The Storks tried desperately to score in the ninth, but failed.

"Horse" Reaves, who made an impressive showing with the Little Rock Travelers in spring training this season, pitched for Camden. Getting off to a slow start, Reaves was hit hard. He was knocked out of the box in the fourth.

Max Beard, also a Little Rock Traveler prospect this spring, came to his rescue. Beard finished the game, giving up two runs in the remaining innings.

Shaner started on the mound for Hope. After an assault upon him which netted Camden five runs, Manager Lloyd Coop sent in Pate as a relief pitcher. When Pate took over the pitching duties in the last half of the fifth inning Hope was leading Camden 6 to 5. Pate gave up three runs and then came the turning point with Benninger home run in the eighth.

Camden has one of the best teams Hope has played this season. Camden comes to Hope for a game July 6. Idabel, Okla., is scheduled to play here Sunday.

The Storks' record now stands 15 victories against 5 defeats.

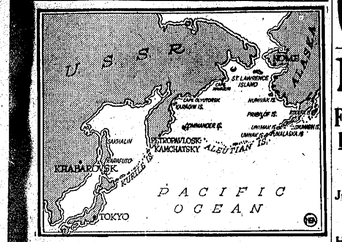
Ships Hunt Mattern



Here is the area in which ships are searching for a trace of James Mattern and his plane. Mattern has not been sighted since he hopped from Khabarovsk, S'wiet Siberia, for Nome, Alaska, in his flight around the world. The Navy's repair ship Aryanne is searching the scores of islands in the Aleutian group, while other ships are on the lookout along the Siberian and Alaskan coasts. It is believed Mattern could live for two or three week if he landed safely on one of the remote islands.

Here and There

Editorial By Alex. H. Washburn

CHARLES E. Mitchell, former president of the National City Bank of New York, is acquitted today on charges of defrauding the government of $850,000 in income taxes. Tried before a jury that included an architect, an engineer and other middle-class salaried men, the verdict is a personal exoneration for Mr. Mitchell.

It is a judgment, however, against an income tax law which permits rich men to deduct capital losses, when the rest of us who do not trade in stocks and other easily-sold articles may deduct only our loss in earnings.

Mr. Mitchell, however, evaded no law. He merely refused to pay more taxes than the law compelled him to pay. Not anyone who would jail a man for that attitude is under suspicion of being a hypocrite.

x x x

The boys who shook up this bank-ing-Addyston in the same sack-ful showed their prejudice to run away with them. That doesn't help matters.

What we need—what the Mitchell trial helps to emphasize—is the realization that during the dozen years following the World war we allowed the administration of our country to get into the hands of leaders who favored a few at the expense of many.

It was a disastrous policy. This is one nation. And when the bottom is out of agriculture, neither industry nor foreign commerce nor banking will long stay afloat.

The men of Mr. Mitchell's class made some serious mistakes the last dozen years. But it's looked for a while as though they had a winning combination, and such is the timidity of men, that when all appeared well, Senator Carter Glass was about the only public figure in America who cried out against policies and practices which in the light of centuries of history could lead only to a crash.

Former New York Banker Freed on Income Tax Count

Jury Out 24 Hours Exonerates Ex-Head of National City

HE RETURNS HOME

Summary of Government's Case, and Defense That Beat It

NEW YORK—(AP)—Acquitted of charges that he cheated the government out of more than $850,000 by income tax evasions, Charles E. Mitchell, former head of the National City bank, world's second largest bank, walked flushed and smiling down lower Broadway toward Wall Street Thursday.

He was acquitted on all counts Thursday morning by a jury which had the case a little over 24 hours.

Jury Out Overnight

NEW YORK—(AP)—Twelve federal court jurors deliberated Wednesday night on the guilt or innocence of Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City bank, on trial for the last five weeks on charges of evading about $850,000 income tax payments in 1929 and 1930.

Ten hours after it received the case, the jury retired without having reached an agreement.

Conviction would carry a maximum penalty sentence of 15 years and a maximum fine of $20,000.

Judge Henry W. Goddard completed his instructions to the 12 men at 11:25 a. m., after telling them:

"A reasonable doubt does not mean reluctance to perform an unpleasant duty."

The jurors, among whom are two engineers, a contractor, and an architect, were in their consultation room less than an hour before they were taken out to lunch. They will return to the case locked, and no word from them during the afternoon as to their progress.

Returns for Instructions

The jury returned to the courtroom at 5:05 p. m. and asked Judge Goddard to re-read the portion of his instructions to the effect that participation in a management fund in 1929

The judge read most of the section of the instructions, but was interrupted by Foreman James E. Campbell, who said:

"We think what you've read covers the point, your honor. Thank you."

The jurors then were taken to dinner.

Mitchell, whose tanned face appeared tired, remained in the courtroom, where he ate a chicken sandwich for lunch.

Charge to Jury

Judge Goddard in his charge reviewed the allegations against Mitchell. That he made false stock sales to his wife and to W. D. Thornton to show losses so great that he paid no income tax, and that he failed to report receipt of $666,666.67 from a National City Company management fund.

Of the transaction whereby Mitchell was credited with the sale of 2,500 shares of bank stock to his wife, the judge said:

"The problem for you to decide is whether or not that was a bona fide sale.

"You cannot convict the defendant unless you find there was an understanding between Mr. Mitchell and his wife, or that Mrs. Mitchell was merely a nominee for her husband, or really remained in her husband's possession.

"No transfer stamps were affixed to the stock. It is for you to decide whether the omission was an, even sight, as the defendant says, or whether it was done deliberately."

Judge Goddard discussed Mitchell's defense that he acted on his attorney's advice in the transactions.

"I wish to advise you," he said, "that if a man gives all the facts to an attorney and follows that attorney's advice in good faith and honestly, he cannot be convicted, even though the advice was wrong.

"On the other hand, if he set out wilfully and deliberately to disobey the law and did not fully advise his attorney of all the circumstances, he cannot excuse himself by saying he acted on advice of counsel."

The judge then turned to Mitchell's receipt of $666,666.67 from the management fund.

Here and There

Editorial By Alex. H. Washburn

CHARLES E. Mitchell, former president of the National City Bank of New York, is acquitted today on charges of defrauding the government of $850,000 in income taxes. Tried before a jury that included an architect, an engineer and other middle-class salaried men, the verdict is a personal exoneration for Mr. Mitchell.

It is a judgment, however, against an income tax law which permits rich men to deduct capital losses, when the rest of us who do not trade in stocks and other easily-sold articles may deduct only our loss in earnings.

Mr. Mitchell, however, evaded no law. He merely refused to pay more taxes than the law compelled him to pay. Not anyone who would jail a man for that attitude is under suspicion of being a hypocrite.

The boys who shook up this bank-ing-Addyston in the same sack-ful showed their prejudice to run away with them. That doesn't help matters.

What we need—what the Mitchell trial helps to emphasize—is the realization that during the dozen years following the World war we allowed the administration of our country to get into the hands of leaders who favored a few at the expense of many.

It was a disastrous policy. This is one nation. And when the bottom is out of agriculture, neither industry nor foreign commerce nor banking will long stay afloat.

The men of Mr. Mitchell's class made some serious mistakes the last dozen years. But it's looked for a while as though they had a winning combination, and such is the timidity of men, that when all appeared well, Senator Carter Glass was about the only public figure in America who cried out against policies and practices which in the light of centuries of history could lead only to a crash.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Administrators of the farm act have decided to apply it to fruits and vegetables and other special crops which are not listed as basic commodities in the law. This interpretation was made known with the announcement Thursday of the appointment of Dr. H. R. Tolley of the University of California as chief of the section of special crops, a division created to carry out the program for fruits and vegetables.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Representative Edward B. Almon, 72, of Tuscumbia, Ala., died here Thursday. He was chairman of the house roads committee and a leading advocate of the government operation of Muscle Shoals.

Orders Education Act Voted July 18

Governor Includes It in Special Election Instead of 1934

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Governor Futrell Thursday issued a writ to include referred act, No. 78—abolishing the elective state board of education and substituting an appointive one—in the July 18th election.

The question of the legality of this move was raised immediately.

The governor acted under the initiative and referendum provision which would have permitted him to include the act, which has been referred to a popular vote through the proper number of petitions, in the general election of 1934.

Secretary of State McDonald asked an opinion from the attorney general as to whether the referred act should be published before the special election, and for how long.

Camden Bank Loot $6,000 to $10,000

Stolen Car Found Abandoned May Have Been Bandits'

CAMDEN, Ark.—(AP)—All available officers of this section were searching Wednesday night for trace of the four masked men who entered the Citizens Bank & Trust Co. here at noon, forced several employes and customers to lie on the floor while they scooped up all the cash in sight and then escaped in an automobile.

Amount of the loot was undetermined as bank officials had not completed a check of the loss. However, it was reported the robbers got between $6,000 and $10,000.

A car stolen at Magnolia Sunday was found abandoned late Wednesday on the Mt. Holly-Stephens road and officers expressed belief it was used in the robbery.

Search was concentrated in a thickly wooded section in the southwestern part of Ouachita county, in the vicinity where officers lost track of the bandits who robbed the Stephens and the Smackover banks recently.

Operation to Save a Local Woman

Oak Grove Gets Up Fund to Send Her to St. Louis

Citizens of the Oak Grove community completed a fund Thursday to send Mrs. Ocie Sherman of that place to St. Louis Saturday for an operation at Barnes hospital to remove a brain tumor.

Progress of the malignant growth had been discovered by Dr. P. B. Carrigan, of Hope, and following other examinations by Hope and Texarkana medical men it was decided an operation would be necessary. The Oak Grove community got up a fund to defray traveling and hospital expense, and Dr. Carrigan made arrangements agreed to perform the operation gratis.

The fund has affected Mrs. Sherman's sight and hearing; but removal of the growth will restore these faculties, it is believed.

Bible Class to Meet

The Every Man's Bible class will meet Friday night in the classroom of First Christian church at 7:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Civil Service Filing to Close on June 27

The last day for filing applications in the civil service examination for collector of cotton statistics in Hempstead county is next Tuesday, June 27. Through error The Star stated yesterday that the examination itself would be held June 27. Max Cox, local manager for the cotton co-operative, said Thursday that June 27 is the date of the deadline for filing—not the date of the examination.

Home Town Newsboy Wins Old Love

Romances of June—No. 4

Arthur Hopkins, left above, who as a boy delivered papers to Doris Kenyon's home thirty years ago, now is honeymooning with her. Miss Kenyon is shown, below, as she looked when Hopkins first saw her and, right, as a star of the movies.

Stage Producer Weds Star, Childhood Pal

Real Romance of June, as Arthur Hopkins Honeymoons With Doris Kenyon

This is the fourth of six stories on the most romantic June marriages of 1933.

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD—It is nearly 30 years ago that a little girl, her pretty nose flattened against the window pane, watched a boy ride up in front of her house on a bicycle and, with a masterly flip, toss the evening paper up on the front porch.

The families of the boy and the little girl were friends, but the children didn't know each other. After all, they were just a little girl in a home and a paper route, and the just the boy who delivered the papers. Still, the little girl remembered him.

Love being the curious thing it is, how could she know she was one day to be Mrs. Arthur Hopkins, of course, and she didn't. But she is.

The little girl was Doris Kenyon, who climbed to heights of fame as a concert singer and movie actress, widow at the equally-famed Milton Sills.

Perhaps we had better say she is Mrs. Arthur Hopkins, for that is what she was until the most romantic June wedding has made her. And Arthur Hopkins is the boy who flipped the papers up on the front porch.

Separate Ways

When Doris Kenyon was five, she moved away from Syracuse, and the paths of these two swept wide apart, only to reunite again, years later in Hollywood wedding. The talented Kenyon girl went to the Packer Institute in Brooklyn, became a poet, sang in a church choir. She had a lovely voice, and some of her poetry was widely published.

While she was singing a solo at Grace Presbyterian Church one day, Victor Herbert walked in. He was captivated by the silvery voice, and offered her the leading role in "Princess Pat."

That was really the beginning of a career that was to lead to musical comedy stardom, and then to the movies. Her picture career reached splendid heights. Then she met Mil-

Mercury Hits 102 Degrees Thursday

New High Mark Reported for the Season in Hope

Old Man Summer did pretty well Thursday on the second day of his official visit by the calendar—rolling up a new high score of 102 degrees at 1:45 p. m.

The quotation is from the official thermometer of N. P. O'Neal, federal weather observer. Mr. O'Neal reported a maximum of 101½ degrees for Wednesday.

A quotation from the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station at noon Wednesday gave a maximum of 99 degrees, with the temperature falling to 97 at 2 p. m. that day—but the mercury reversed itself during the afternoon and shot over the 100 mark for the first time this season.

Cotton and Stocks Slump Uncertainly

But America Repeats That Dollar Will Not Be Stabilized

NEW YORK—(AP)—The announcement of the American delegation to the world economic conference that the government regarded temporary stabilization of the dollar as "unlikely" was scampered by erratic movements in the financial markets Thursday.

Stocks slumped in late trading, many dropping a point or less, but a few, or more. Cotton followed the British pound's early rise, but gains of 60 to 70 cents a bale were converted into net losses of 10 to 35 cents.

Wheat closed with a small advance, but corn was about ½ to 1 cent lower.

Cotton Off 6 Points

Cotton fell off six points in trading Thursday, July contracts closing at 9.32-.33. Wednesday they closed at 9.27-.28. The decline represents a loss of 30 cents per bale.

No Stabilization

LONDON, June 22.—(AP)—The American delegation to the world economic conference said in a statement Thursday that the United States government feels currency stabilization now would be ultimately and possibly would "cause a violent price recession," to the detriment of the conference.

Pageant at Yerger School on Thursday

A pageant will be presented in the auditorium of Yerger High school, Thursday night by fourteen negro high school students. The title is "Ethiopia at the Bar of Justice." Money gathered from white play will go to both Hope and Prescott negro schools. Mt. Olive church, of Prescott, is director. The pageant begins at 8 o'clock.

Alma Bank Robbed for the Fifth Time

Bandits Tie Up Marshal and Haul Off Safe Containing $3,600

ALMA, Ark.—(AP)—The Commercial Bank of Alma was robbed for the fifth time since 1917 early Thursday when bandits loaded the bank's two-ton safe in a truck and drove away.

The safe contained $3,600 in cash. A posse started a search for the bandits when City Marshal H. D. Humphrey, who was held up by two armed men and forced to accompany them to the bank, was found trussed up on the bank floor.

The robbers spent an hour dragging the safe from the building and across the street by a motor winch, and loading it into the waiting truck.

Doak's Nephew Is Indicted on Bribe

Republican Cabinet Member Had Nephew in Subordinate Job

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Ervin F. Brown, a nephew of former Secretary of Labor Doak, and head of the recently-abolished Investigation of Immigration division of the department, was indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on a charge of soliciting and accepting a bribe from a criminal alien.
